Keystone
SCHOOL

ARTIBUS SCIENTIAQUE MAXIME INSTRUERE

Keystone School is organized and dedicated to the purpose of providing the best possible facilities, faculty, and curricula for the development of the total individual with the full utilization of his abilities and aptitudes.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES · ADVISORY BOARD · COMMITTEES

FEET ON THE GROUND, EYES TO THE FUTURE

The Advisory Board is composed of active, efficient business and professional leaders. Among its members are the parents or grandparents of present and former students of Keystone School.

It is working toward the immediate goals of obtaining scholarships for highly intelligent and academically talented young people.

It seeks the early construction of a new campus in order that the school may fulfill its destiny in this awesome age of science.

It seeks endowed chairs so that superior teachers may be retained in the teaching field and retained at Keystone School. Such endowments would supplement salaries now limited by the budget of the School.

It seeks to continue the growth and development of the program, faculties, and facilities through endowments to the institution.

An annual "Crop" of outstanding students in the junior schools of the San Antonio area is selected through competitive intelligence, achievement, and aptitude testing. The top twenty are chosen for enrollment in Keystone School's ninth grade.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

William B. Greet, President; A.B., University of North Carolina; Lt. Col. USAR; Graduate, Command and General Staff School and the Infantry School.

John H. Eargle, Vice-President and principal, elementary school; B.S., Howard Payne College; M.Ed., University of Texas

W. Grant Bechtel, Board member; Graduate, Ohio Mechanics Institute; President, White Star Laundry; Past President, Lions Club and Retail Merchants Association; and Past Chairman of the Official Board, Travis Park Methodist Church.

A PHILANTHROPIC FOUNDATION

Keystone School is a non-profit, tax-free corporation which is supported by benefactors and limited tuition fees.

It provides scholarships for very able students. These scholarships come from the School, individuals, professional societies, and other foundations.

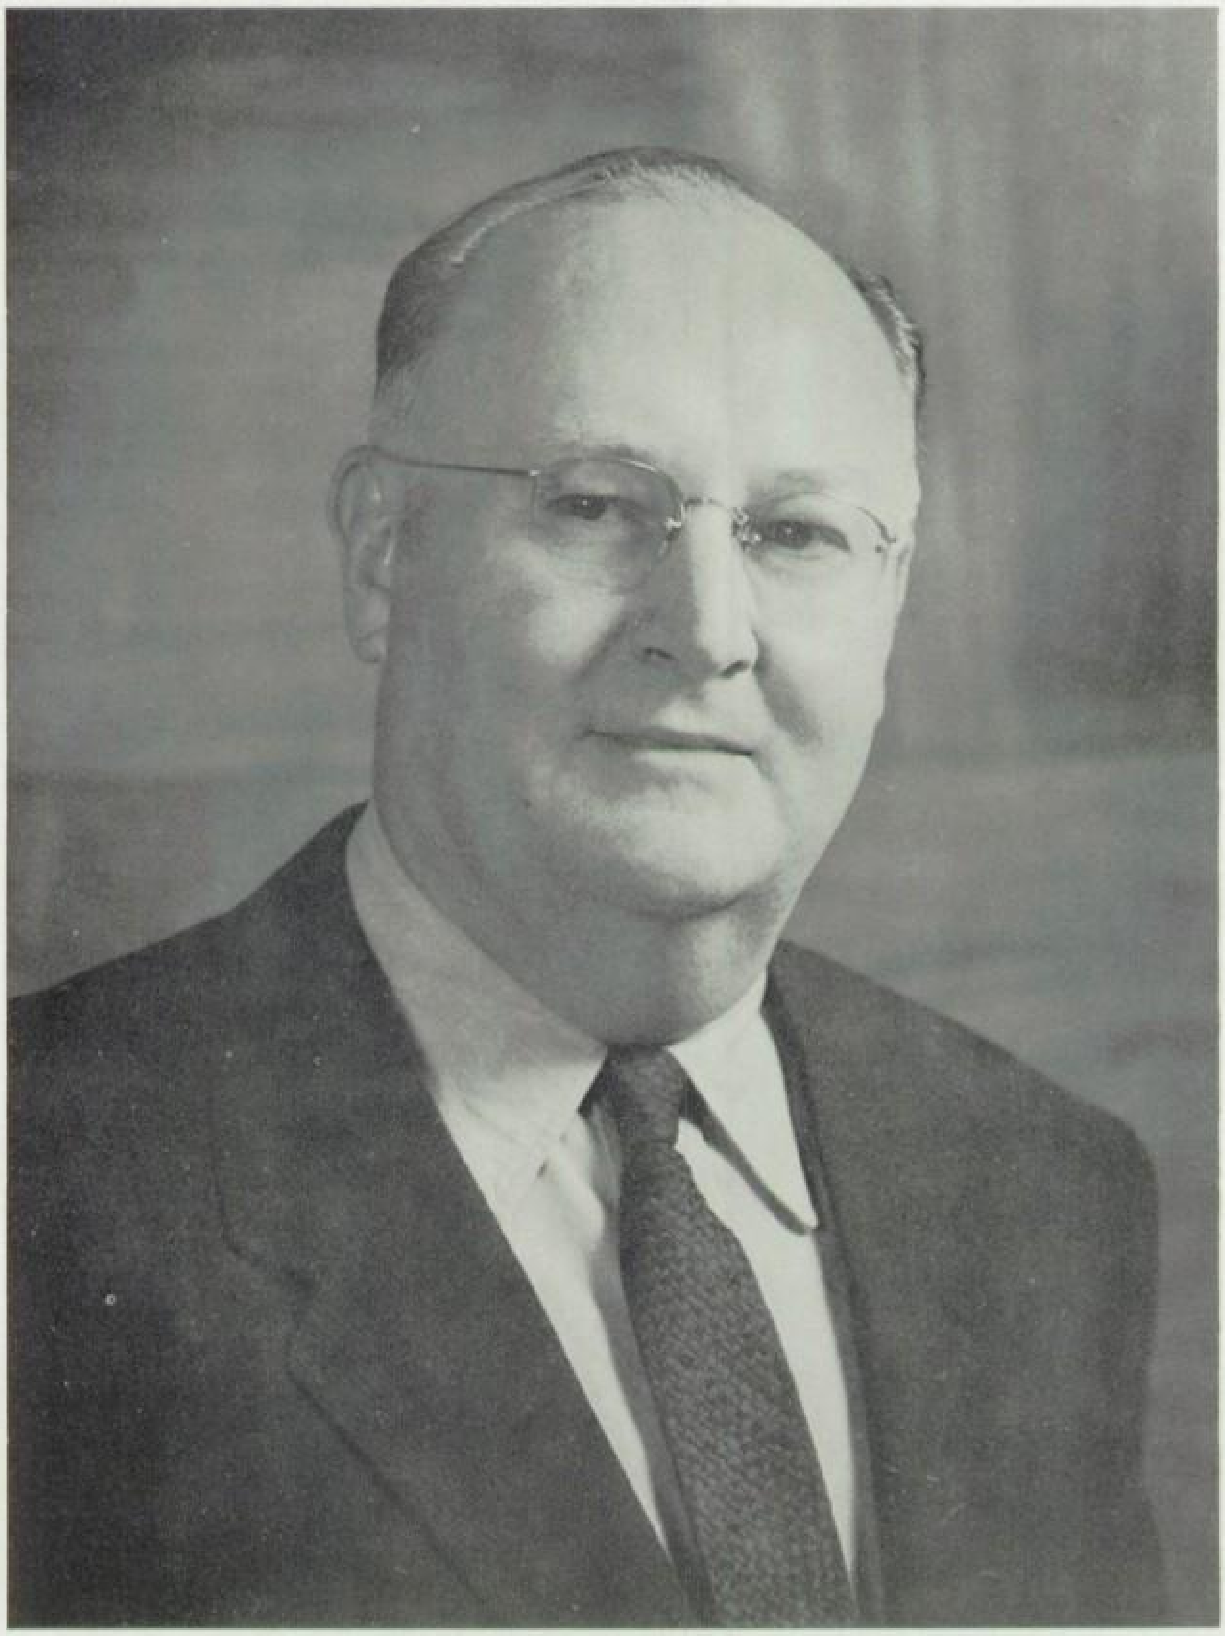

MANY MORE ARE NEEDED!

OBJECTIVES

In the formal and informal education of individuals Keystone School presents courses of study designed for the full development of the intellect. It provides activities which stimulate character-building, good citizenship, good health, proper study habits, logical thinking and projection. These, Keystone School ever seeks to improve.

DEDICATION

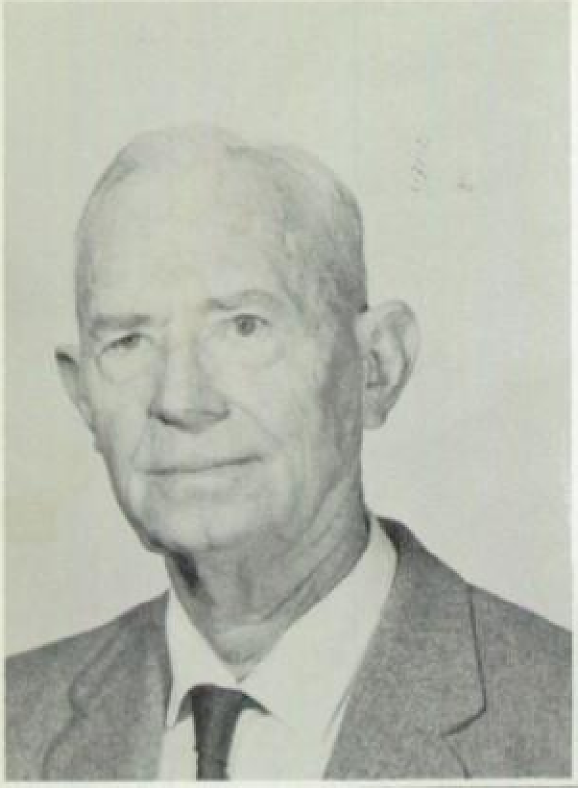

MR. LOUIS J. KOCUREK

Although Mr. Kocurek's time is consumed in the world of business and numerous civic enterprises, he finds time to devote to the welfare of the School and to planning for its future. Because of his faithfulness and loyalty to the School, we dedicate this annual to him.
